

A

dvantages of Hiring a Wedding Planner

By Debbie Scagliotti

Magical Memories Event Planning

Minimizes Stress: Planning a wedding can be very stressful. There are a million details that go into planning the perfect wedding ceremony and reception. A wedding planner will manage even the smallest details from the budget to the hiring and contracting of various vendors.

Variety of Services: Wedding planners offer a wide variety of services. It can be “full-service”, which includes everything from booking the reception hall, clergymen and band to making sure the candles are lit and the cake is iced. Wedding planners can also be only involved in small components as you desire along your journey from engagement to honeymoon. Initial planning of your theme or colors, helping draft a budget, assisting on the day of the wedding, and coordinating all the vendors you’ve hired can greatly help you, your family and friends fully enjoy your wedding day.

Time Management: Planning a wedding takes an enormous amount of time. Your wedding planner can save you time by making phone calls, coordinating meetings, researching vendors, drafting contracts, etc. which will leave time for you to concentrate on other things involving the wedding, your career, your family or maybe even school.

Budgeting: To stay within your monetary boundaries, wedding planners will work with you to best meet your goals and help get the most out of your money. Wedding planners develop great relationships with local vendors where they usually can acquire discounts. This can lower your cost in the long run.

Distinctive Appeal: Many times the bride and groom can't decide how to make their wedding special and distinctive from others. A wedding planner will help you realize your ideas in a realistic way and provide you with their own suggestions to polish and shape your ideas into a unique wedding.