

WHAT DOES THE GROOM PAY FOR?

The bridegroom is usually expected to show up at the church on time and then recite vows with the bride.

The rest of his duties generally involve opening up his wallet to pay for the following items:

- The rehearsal dinner (though his parents traditionally pay for this event)
- His formalwear
- His mother's dress
- His father's attire
- The bride's bouquet
- Corsages for the mothers and grandmothers
- Boutonnieres for the best man and ushers
- The marriage license
- Fees for the clergyman or officiant
- The limousine to the airport
- The complete honeymoon
- Wedding gifts for his attendant
- A wedding gift for the bride
